TOPIC:
How to work in the laboratory

SPEAKER:
Lali Chkhikvadze

TARGET AUDIENCE:
Faculty of Medicine

DESCRIPTION:
The workshop is intended for all students who are interested in biological sciences, medicine or veterinary medicine. At the workshop you will get to know more on the following topics:

- Types of laboratories, their purpose
- Biosafety levels in research and clinical laboratories
- Pathogens and risk groups
- Laboratory work rules, labeling
- Biologically hazardous waste and their management: waste collection, transportation, treatment methods.

STUDENT RESEARCH WEEK 2023

TOPIC:
Scientific Sources and the usage of Reference Management Tool – Mendeley

SPEAKER:
Giga Khositashvili

TARGET AUDIENCE:
All faculties

DESCRIPTION:
The purpose of the meeting is to introduce the academic style issues to all interested individuals. The following topics will be discussed - scientific sources and their reliability, bibliography compilation rules, citation and referencing according to APA (American Psychological Association) academic style. In addition to this, we will demonstrate the usage of reference management system – Mendeley. This program is used in the process of preparing a scientific paper and allows us to automatically check sources and compile a bibliography according to a predetermined academic style. The meeting will be interesting for students who plan to write a thesis or an academic paper.

STUDENT RESEARCH WEEK 2023

TOPIC:
How to write a research project proposal

SPEAKER:
Assistant Eka Kokhreidze

TARGET AUDIENCE:
All faculties

DESCRIPTION:
The workshop will provide an opportunity for interested people to learn how we can prepare a PhD research project to submit for any open call. The conditions and rules of the contest announced by the Shota Rustaveli National Foundation will be discussed in the workshop; Budget, schedule, and structure of the research proposal.

STUDENT RESEARCH WEEK 2023

TOPIC:
Randomized controlled trials:
basic principles and ethical considerations

SPEAKER :
Assoc. Prof. Giorgi Lomidze

TARGET AUDIENCE:
Faculty of Medicine

DESCRIPTION:
The workshops highlights the key components of a well-designed randomized controlled trial (RCT). These include developing a protocol based on the initial hypothesis, selecting the appropriate population, emphasizing the significance of randomization and blinding, implementing the intervention, and measuring the outcome. Ethical considerations will be emphasized, particularly in relation to informed consent and general ethical principles.

STUDENT RESEARCH WEEK 2023

TOPIC:
Qualitative/qualitative research methods,
data collection tools (questionnaire, interview)

SPEAKER:
Assistant, Eka Kokhreidze

TARGET AUDIENCE:
Faculty of Medicine

DESCRIPTION:
The workshop aims to discuss two main research methods;
The advantages and disadvantages of the mentioned methods, selection criteria, data collection methods, and tools will be described for each type of research. The workshop will give attendees an opportunity to see the fundamental difference between qualitative and quantitative research.
